CONSTRUCTION CONTINUED ON STATE SHRINE

$300,000 IS GOAL SET

Collection For Museum Is Being Made By Committee

The dream of a Kentucky building is now rapidly becoming a reality. A force of men are at work. The excavations have been made and the footings are being laid for the concrete walls of the basement. Before winter it is hoped to have the foundations completed and the building "Of Kentucky, for Kentucky and by Kentuckians" will be well under way.

The project is being financed by present and former students of this college and by other Kentuckians interested in the work. Already a fund of $225,000 has been subscribed and there is not the slightest doubt of the success of the undertaking. A sum of $300,000 is the goal which has been set by the Foundation office.

The building is to be constructed entirely of Kentucky materials and is to be a repository of the history, arts, industries and occupations of all the state. It is to house the College History Foundation offices. There are to be classrooms for the teaching of Kentucky history, geography, literature, etc. It will contain rooms fitted up in colonial style and with genuine furnishings of the past life of the state. There will be a library of books of Kentucky and written by Kentuckians. There will be a museum in which it is hoped to gather many relics of historical interest that would otherwise be lost within a few years.

The Kentucky Building is the incarnation of an ideal. It is a concrete expression of the spirit of President Cherry in his endeavor to keep before the eyes of future Kentuckians the glorious past of our great Commonwealth. Here will be portrayed the romances, struggles and sacrifices of the pioneers who wrested from nature a home in the wilderness and established the "first distinctly American state."

Already a large number of things have been contributed to the building, but many more are needed. Some of the items that are wanted include furniture for the pioneer rooms, both the main furniture used in the frontier log cabin and that used in the stately mansion of the rich planter, because the building is to represent all phases of life. Other items needed are old tools, hand-woven goods, needlework, books of historical interest, bills of sale and other documents—in fact anything of historical interest that throws any light on the manners and customs of the state. Anyone having articles to donate to the building should get in touch with Miss Gabrielle Robertson of the History Department here.

Attend National Dairy Show
The National Dairy Show held recently at St. Louis was attended by Mr. J. R. Whitmer, head of the dairy division of the Agriculture Department, and Messrs. Roy Graw, Basil Cole, Russell Jenkins and Taff Thompson, also of the Agriculture Department. The party made the trip in Mr. Whitmer's car, leaving Bowling Green on October 18, and returning on October 16.

Band Goes To Franklin
The Teachers College Band, thirty-five strong, journeyed to Franklin, October 10. The occasion was the opening football game between Franklin and Glasgow. The band is under the direction of Mr. Elliott Orr. He is very optimistic over the excellent prospects for an outstanding band this

FRESHMEN ARE GIVEN RECEPTION ON HILL

The annual Freshman reception was held at 8 o'clock Friday evening, September 19, in the Cedar House. For several days the campus had rung with criticism concerning the "Greenness of the Fresh." A peep in the Cedar House at the newly dressed, modest young freshmen would have convinced the most dubious persons that most of the "Greenness" was in the minds of the jokers. Praise for the freshmen is exceedingly rare, but this year's freshmen deserve it, for even the most home sick young freshman forgot himself in the gay clamor of the games, contests and music. After the reception, the freshmen, prepared by Miss Helen Gwin, dietitian, were served, the "freshies" departed to their various homes to rest, wonder, unpack, and write home to "the folks."

T. A. ROTHWELL IN PROMOTION TO COLONELCY

Receives Same Rank As
That Held During World War

AT WESTERN 5 YEARS

Major Thomas A. Rothwell, head of the R. O. T. C. at Western, has been recently promoted from the rank of Major to that of Colonel. During the World War Colonel Rothwell was promoted to that rank, but when the war was over, in common with all other officers of the army, he was demoted. Congress has recently passed a bill raising all retired officers to the rank that they held during the war. All of Colonel Rothwell's friends at Western are delighted with his promotion.

Colonel Rothwell has had a long and varied service. He was born in New York City and educated at Columbia University. He entered the Army in 1905 as a second lieutenant and has served all grades from that to colonel. He has served in four campaigns. In 1905 he served against the Ute Indians in Utah and then was transferred to the Philippines, where he helped to quell the insurrections against the United States. During the trouble with Mexico in 1916 he was stationed on the border and served in the conflicts. He also served in France during the World War.

Freshman Registration Is Considered Success Here

Eighteen Percent Increase In Enrollment
Over Last Fall Is Realized

Registration of freshmen began on September 19, this being the second year in which freshmen were registered before the general opening of the term. Both as to numbers and spirit of co-operation, freshman registration was very satisfactory.

At 10 o'clock chapel was held in Van Meter Auditorium, which was filled. After a brief program of greeting and instructions, the group was divided into eight divisions, each with a sponsor, who led them over the campus explaining the location of buildings and class rooms. The tour of the campus was completed at Potter Hall at 12 o'clock, where all students and visitors were guests of the college at a luncheon.

In the afternoon students were registered. The registration program continued from 1 o'clock until 5 p. m. and practically every freshman had completed satisfactory registration and had enrolled in courses.

LIBRARY STAFF IS AUGMENTED TO 20 HELPERS

Extension Service Given
High Schools Of State

LIBRARIAN ON LEAVE

The library of this institution has made a notable growth in the past year. Many new features have been added and the staff has been extended to include twenty members.

The library is making a special effort to reach the student body through instruction in the use of the library. The incoming Freshmen are introduced to the library through lectures during Freshman week. Lectures are also being given in the English classes by Miss Yates and Mrs. Mollenberry. Instruction is being given in the training school through conferences held by Mrs. Leiper and students majoring in this department.

Efforts are being made to make the student familiar with the library as the center of college training. Lists of books on interesting subjects are being compiled which will be published from time to time. Attractive poster call attention to books for general reading placed on the display rack. Special aid in reference is provided at the desk between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m.

The library at the present time employs twenty staff members, eighteen of whom have library training. In the absence of Miss Helm, who is doing graduate work at the University of Chicago, Miss Yates is acting librarian.

Of the seven assistant librarians, six are college graduates and all have library training. The curriculum has been extended to include thirty semester hours credit, and several of the senior class of this year will receive degrees in this field.

During the past few months the library has been conducting some extension work. It was in the form of organizing and cataloging books for high school libraries throughout the state. Some of those schools receiving this service are: Rineville, Richwood, Sonoma, Rich Pond, Upton, Leitchfield, Beaver Dam, Culhoun, Beech Grove, Lewisport, and Glendale.

Judges In School Fair

Miss Addie Lee of the Training School kindergarten, Miss Ethel Clark, of the model rural school, and Mr. L. F. Jones of the Education Department, were in Hartford October 10-11 to serve as judges in a school fair at that place.

A reception was given the freshmen at the Cedar House from 7 to 9 on Friday evening. This occasion was very successful. Games were provided, musical numbers rendered, and refreshments served by freshman girls who lived in Bowling Green.

A brief survey of the freshmen enrollment revealed the following interesting points:
Seventy-two counties are represented.
Of those students who had never registered in the college before, eleven states are represented and one foreign country.

In this group of students, twenty-eight had transferred from other colleges.
Registration for upper classmen was held on September 22.

At the close of the main registration it was found that the increase in enrollment over this fall of 1929 was more than eighteen per cent.

He coached two years at the Tennessee Military Academy, three years at Male High School in Louisville, and four years at Transylvania. Coach Elam has already demonstrated to the Western supporters in the first few games that he is a hard worker who knows football.

STATE MEDICAL SOCIETY HOLDS MEET ON HILL

300 Delegates Are Guests Of Western Before Opening

College Heights was host from September 15-18 to the members of the annual convention of the Kentucky State Medical Association. A group of about 300 doctors and their wives attended the convention, which held its meeting in the Library Building.

Both West Hall and J. Whit Potter Hall were filled to capacity, notwithstanding the fact that many guests stopped at the hotels in town.
Dr. Granville Haines and Mrs. B. F. Blackerby of Louisville were presidents of the State Medical Association and Women's Auxiliary, respectively, and under their supervision both organizations had a most successful and delightful convention. Most enlightening and interesting addresses on scientific subjects were given before the meetings by authorities from Kentucky and other states.

After an address of welcome by Dr. H. H. Cherry, Dr. Frank D. Shutz spoke on the subject, "Whittier Education." This was one of the outstanding addresses of the meeting, a real challenge to the teacher.

Departmental meetings were held Friday morning and again in the afternoon. The high school section was addressed by Dr. J. B. Edmonson, dean of School Education at the University of Michigan. His subject Friday morning was "Training Students in Habits of Study." His afternoon address was "The Old vs. the New in School Discipline." Both were forceful, inspiring speeches. The elementary section was addressed by Miss Ethel Clark, Principal of the Rural School, Western Teachers College.

The Department of Superintendents was under the direction of Mr. Mark Goodman and Mr. O. J. Jones, both of the State Department of Education.

Friday afternoon at 1:30 the Rural School Chorus of the Third District met in the stadium. About 1,500 children were led by Mrs. Nell Gooch. Traveling in the singing of a number of patriotic songs. On Friday evening Dr. Shutz delivered an address, "Lost on Dress Parade."

The feature of the program Saturday morning was an address by Dr. Edmonson on "Professional Standards." Officers for next year were elected. They are L. C. Curry, Principal of Bowling Green High School, President; T. O. Hall, City Superintendent at Greenville, Vice President; Earl Duff, Simpson County Superintendent, Secretary-Treasurer.

County Delegations In Organization

The entire chapel period October 8 was devoted to the meeting of the county delegations. The meetings were under the direction of the Personnel Department.

Forty-seven separate delegations met and elected officers. The topics stressed at these meetings were Homecoming Day and Alumni membership. Students were urged to make every effort to get all former students here for Homecoming Day on October 25. In addition all who were qualified were asked to join the Alumni Association. (This membership fee includes subscription to the College Heights Herald.)

Homecoming History Club
Banquet To Be Held Here

IS TRADITIONAL EVENT

The annual homecoming banquet of the Stickle History Club will be held Friday evening, October 24, at 6:30, in the Cedar House. It will be the night before the homecoming game and plans are being made for an excellent program. A large attendance of members and former members is expected.

The speaker for the occasion will be Mr. Michael Demiashevich of Peabody College. Mr. Demiashevich is a Russian who is now living in exile from his native country, having been driven out by the Bolsheviks when they obtained possession of the country. The subject of his address has not been definitely announced, but it is understood that he is to speak on some phase of the Russian situation, which he knows from first-hand experience. His address should be full of information of absorbing interest.

This banquet is a tradition with the History Club. It has been observed every year since the organization of the club and is the one big occasion of the year. It is always looked forward to by the Alumni and all former members as a time to get together, to renew former friendships, and to talk of past experiences.

Reservations should be made by application to the secretary of the club not later than October 21. The History Club held its first meeting of the year October 8, in room 224, Potter Building. Dr. Stickle presided until officers were elected. Plans for the homecoming banquet were discussed.

If the excitement and interest evidenced throughout the state and words of anticipation from former students are any indications, several thousands of Western's friends and alumni will be on College Heights October 25, to enjoy a splendid program, and a real fellowship.

Physical Ed. Dept. Starts Point System

In place of awarding letters to a select few who participate in one sport the Physical Education Department plans this year to award monograms, letters and sweaters to those who meet the requirements laid down by a point system.

Points may be earned by participating in intramural contests such as basketball, hockey, track, baseball, volleyball and soccer. Points may also be earned in folk dancing, natural dancing, stunts, leadership, participation and technique in the various sports. Scholarship and sportsmanship are especially stressed. All girls who are interested may work for awards.

HOMECOMING. The traditional heritage of every Western alumnus! The one day when all former students turn their attention toward thoughts of their alma mater, forget cares, and return to that Utopian eminence in Southwestern Kentucky to bask in the friendly associations of old acquaintances and to acquire equally pleasant new ones!

Never before have such elaborate plans been arranged to make the approaching Homecoming, October 24-25, the greatest in all of the experience of the institution. Every detail of the plans has been apparently materialized in the best possible way, faculty and student body have enjoyed perfect cooperation, and the administration takes pride and pleasure in announcing the following official program for October 25.

Calendar of the day
7:30-9:30 Inspection of the grounds and buildings. Reception and Alumni News for College Heights Herald, Room 1, Library.
9:30-10:45 Art Galleries and Historical Museum open to all visitors. "The beginning of a beautiful Italian Garden on the south side of Seal Hall should be seen."

1:00 Get-Together meeting in Little Theatre; Library Building.

12:15 Dinner (35 cents) served in Dining Room of J. Whit Potter Hall to those making reservation. Otherwise lunch may be had in that building in the Tea Room or Sandwich Shop, if desired.

2:00 Football game: Western versus University of Louisville.

8:00-10:00 Reception to Homecoming students, visiting friends, and Louisville team, Cedar House.

Additional features of interest that have been planned for the day of Homecoming, Friday, October 24, are the annual Homecoming luncheon of the History Club, at which Dr. Michael Demiashevich, of Peabody College, will speak, and a meeting of the "W" Club. These festivities will be of particular interest to former members of these respective clubs, while other early arrivals will be anxious to mingle with friends to participate in pep meetings on the Hill or to welcome the visiting team from Louisville.

If the excitement and interest evidenced throughout the state and words of anticipation from former students are any indications, several thousands of Western's friends and alumni will be on College Heights October 25, to enjoy a splendid program, and a real fellowship.

Pep

Too little enthusiasm is displayed by Western students at the football games. On last Saturday at the Middle Tennessee Western game we thought we were attending a deaf and dumb convention.

We do not intend to place the blame upon anyone; but certainly the student body of Western is capable of manifesting more pep than it has at the two games that have been played on the local gridiron this year.

Discretion has been used in the election of the cheer leaders this year, and they merit the co-operation of the student body in putting over the yells and songs they lead.

Pep is traditional on the Hill during the Homecoming festivities, and it is to be hoped that the homecomers will not find the spirit of Western wanting this year. So let everyone fall in line and yell till it hurts at the Homecoming game on Saturday, October 25.

Point System in Physical Education

In keeping with the idea that he serves best who serves most, the Physical Education Department has inaugurated an excellent point system for making awards to the female athletes of Western. No longer will a lucky few be able to carry away the honors while the great mass of students have little chance. The change as advocated by Misses Roemer and Logan will allow all who have athletic aspirations to indulge in them with the hope of recognition. This system will attract scores of girls to participating in various sports, who otherwise would not or could not. We herald it as a distinct advance in the purpose of physical education at Western.

Quo Vadis?

Within the next eight months an army of several hundred graduates will leave the grandeur of college life and fulfill whatever destiny that opportunity may hold for them.

The majority have never appreciated the value of the dollar and will not until they are thrown upon their own resources. The family coffers will be at another service and the few thousand years for the specialized form of education will be expected to pay at least as much as a business investment.

Life, however, is not like a business investment. The money spent for learning is capable of giving glorious rates of interest provided the possessor learns the laws of society.

The great financiers, manufacturers, and entrepreneurs have decided today that brains is the cheapest product in America—cheaper than the lowest manual labor. Then, the means of progress in America is not one's individual qualifications; briefly called what one knows—but who one knows. The man who has arrived tomorrow will be the man that can face those facts and by playing them against themselves overcome a thousand obstacles and succeed.

There is a small percentage of men who sell their services that society will recognize them sufficiently to release the laws about their progress. The geniuses are about the limit of that class. And the remainder turn to the easiest path, the course of least resistance and die in some blind alley of progress, a never-do-well.

The average college man, so-called modern thinker, places about himself a creation of supremacy. Having spent four years more in the play grounds of the idle rich, called institutions of higher learning, he becomes educated. Perhaps we must predicate the remark by explaining that it is a part of youth to feel vain, glorious and proud. The world unfortunately does not hold such high opinion of the college man. They must succeed and then and hit until then will the social herd bow to a new financial, literary, or political god.

Unfortunately the biographies of successful men discreetly omit the means that the men had in treading upward. An equally peculiar society does not demand to know how. The American principle is to get there, leaving everyone free to choose his means. The elasticity of society's conscience can permit and does permit anything. The individual must appease his own ego science.

The world is in the heaves of financial distress. The business that are strong and sound are retrenching. Plainly the banking world cannot remedy the situation, and equally weak is the political means. What then can turn the tide? It is apparently a cycle that nothing can alter and must be allowed to run its course.

Millions of men are out of work. Men that are experienced, clever, intelligent are in that clamorous army of the unemployed. They will be first to get in when the cycle turns to a higher plane. The college graduate will have competition for employment if they are to rely upon their own abilities. If one relies on what someone else can do for him, a puny heir apparent, he will be fortunate enough to start toward success in society's scheme of things, but the man down the line that works for his bread has the better chance unless his heirs influence is strong enough to guide all the waves.

There should be a course taught in colleges wherein a man is told if he does not believe that the world off campus isn't what it seems when he gets that check from home—that usually it is cold, heartless world, and that he will have to face its demands where conceit is forgotten or that piece of parchment signifying a degree rendered to a nobody. It should teach that compensation, that is the psychological regimen of existence, is a subterfuge for a sickness and failure. A man should "debunk" himself. He should find that he is about as human as his neighbor, about as intelligent, and has no more claim to his so-called greatness than the banana vendor or the Italian with his organ.

As said in the beginning, there are less than eight months to think it over. Eight months of study that may result either one way or another. He will either succeed or fail. The man that fails who succeeds if he does not fit in the notches that his life could be of most service to society. In eight months a vast army falls into the maw of industry. It will be the most adverse time to a great graduating class since the panic of 1907.

Editorial

Every child must take some specific health work some where, some way in the Training School. Several offerings are made in the line of health courses—Home Economics, General Science and Physical Education.

This is the fourth year for physical inspection in the Training School. Local eye, ear, nose, and throat specialists and dentists, under the supervision of Miss Redd, Supervisor of Health Work, conducted physical inspection for Training School students during the week beginning October 13. Another clinic will be held in March. There is every evidence of a growing health consciousness on the part of the students, and we look for greater things this year.

In addition to the physical inspection, a rest room is provided for those that are underweight. The adoption of the Blue Ribbon Standard as outlined by the State Board of Health of Kentucky has been inaugurated this year.

The true teachers and the parents are ever thinking of their pupils and children in terms of the future—the contributions they are to make in years to come, and of their happiness in life. The only background for a mental development is a sound physical body.

Junior Audubon Club Organized

The pupils of grade six of the Training School have organized a Junior Audubon Club. They met and adopted the following constitution:

Article I. This organization shall be known as the Junior Audubon Club of the sixth grade of the Training School.

Article II. The object of this club shall be to train members to love and protect birds.

Article III. The officers shall be a president, a vice-president, a secretary, and a treasurer. They shall be elected by ballot and shall hold office for one year.

Article IV. The meetings of the Junior Audubon Club shall be held every Friday afternoon from 1:30 to 2:30.

Article V. There shall be the following standing committee: Program, to make out all programs; Visiting, to visit sick friends; Reception, to welcome all visitors; Service, to care for the birds, to see that the room is kept attractive, and to help in any way when help is needed.

After adopting the constitution the following officers were elected: President, Richard Grise; Vice-President, Lewis Harmon; Secretary, Betty Remmel; Treasurer, Burton Jenkins.

It was voted to pay ten cents each month as club dues. This money is to be kept by the treasurer and used as the club directs. Visitors are always welcome.

Jokes

Mrs. Matthews—"Know anything about Shakespeare's works?"
B. T. Towery—"What kind of a factory is it?"

Mildred Dawson—"Mr. Matthews, what did Sir Walter Raleigh say when he spread out his coat for Queen Elizabeth?"
Mr. Matthews—"Step on it, Liz!"

Mr. Westerfield—"Elizabeth, can you explain wireless telegraphy?"
Elizabeth Finn—"Well, if you had a very long dog reaching from London to Liverpool, and you trod on its tail in London, it would bark in Liverpool. That's telegraphy and wireless is the same without the dog."

Miss Gaines—"Raymon, translate 'Hae in Galliam importandia est.'"
Raymon—"Hike into Gaul, it is important."

Transylvania Pioneers Get Licking on Own Field by Hilltoppers

Western: Easily Scores Nineteen-Point Margin Over Pioneers Of Lexington

When Elam's charges displayed their eagerness to conquer the Pioneers from the instant the first whistle sounded until the finish of the game. They threatened the goal of the defense in the first quarter by placing the ball on the line with one down to go, but, due to the misinterpretation of a play, they failed to score. It was not until the middle of the second quarter that the Hilltoppers successfully placed the oval across the desired line. This marker was after Millard, Western end, appeared a fumble on the Pioneers 35-yard line. An overhead drive, two blue plays, and a fumble placed the ball on the 3-yard line, from where Captain "Burrhead" Vaughan carried it over on an off-tackle drive. The kick for extra point failed.

The second half opened with Western on the defense. They collected two more touchdowns and an extra point before the final whistle sounded.

After a change of punts in the third section of the game, Transylvania was in possession of the ball on her own 45-yard stripe. From this position Fieber, punter back, attempted to punt. But he reckoned without knowing the jumping ability of one Bill Chatter, Western's lanky end. Like a flash Chatter was at him, jumping a perfect block as he came. The blocked punt rebounded against Fieber and rolled into the clear behind him. Chatter pounced on it and was away for a 40-yard gallop for the Teachers' second marker before the Pioneers realized fully what was happening. "Burrhead" Elrod added an extra point with a place kick.

After this the two teams played on equal terms until the latter portion of the final quarter, at which time the Crimson were on the offense, and were attempting to gain yardage by way of an aerial attack. Booth passed, but his throw fell short of its mark and was intercepted by "Wildman" Cummins, who lost no time in reversing the direction of the ball and was well on his way to the defense's goal before he was tackled by an opponent. But opponents were the least of "Wildman's" worries on that play, for he had removed his helmet gear and probably made him too heavy to deal with all the time. He eluded two would-be tacklers and displayed skill as well as speed on this 50-yard jaunt.

Although Transylvania never came closer than 30 yards to a touchdown twice the Pioneers held when the Elam-men threatened their goal. On both occasions the Hilltoppers had the ball on the Crimson's 19-yard line.

This encounter became rather rough at times as Transylvania had advertised the game as one for "blood." But Referee Doak held the two teams well in hand and allowed no unnecessary roughness to take place.

Chatter was the only Western

MIDDLE-TENN. IS CONQUERED BY 13-7 SCORE

Only Mediocre Playing Displayed By Teams

Battling through the first quarter and all but three minutes of the second on even terms, Captain Paul Vaughan and Turner Elrod found loose on several long jaunts that placed the ball on the 10-yard strip. Leroy Elrod burst his way through center to score the first touchdown. His kick for the extra point went through the middle of the bars.

Tennessee evened things up in the third stanza when C. Kerr kicked up L. Elrod's punt and ran 30 yards to a touchdown. A pass from Delay to C. Kerr added the extra point.

Elrod Scores Again. Infuriated by their fumble in such a critical position, the Hilltoppers came back fighting and succeeded in shoving over the winning score when Vaughan, Broderrick and T. Elrod tore the Tennessee Teachers' forward wall to shreds, placing the ball in scoring position for L. Elrod who again went through the middle of the line.

All in all, the teams were about even with Tennessee completing several more passes than Western as well as averaging more yardage on punts. The teams weighed about even. The lines played on a par with the exception of Captain Cracker, who broke through the Western line time and again to throw Western backs for losses.

Stevens, Cummins, Baker and Martin played well in the Western line, all being about on a par. Holman, sophomore end, uncovered some things about himself today when he swept back of the line to throw the backs for several losses.

No one man was outstanding in the Topper backfield, while Moore and Deay stood out for Tennessee. Delay sent chills to Western fans in the third quarter when he received Western's kickoff on the 5-yard strip and squirmed 68 yards before being downed by the heady Turner Elrod. Carlos Oakley did some nice pass receiving for Western as well as playing a good defensive game.

Second Stringers Start. Elam, contrary to expectations, started his second team backfield instead of the regular. Moore and Broderrick did plenty to the Tennessee line before being replaced, but it took Vaughan, T. Elrod and Oakley to score.

Judging from today's showing Western fans shudder at the thought of facing the University of Louisville team next Saturday. Unless considerable improvement is shown before then the greatest homecoming ever planned at the Teachers' College may be a disappointment to the homecomers.

The line-ups:
Western. Pos. Tennessee.
Beam L. E. E. Kerr
Baker L. T. S. Holt
Walker L. G. Harris
Martin C. C. Hendrix
Shattles R. E. Woodford
Stevens R. T. Woody
Mayhew R. G. Crocker
Moore Q. Moore
Johnson J. H. Thompson
Broderrick R. H. Roth
L. Elrod F. B. Hindman

Substitutes—Western: Reynolds, Oakley, Vaughan, T. Elrod, Holman, Baud; Middle Tennessee: Thompson, C. Kerr, Bramble, Holt, Delay, Sharp, Green.

Referee, Evans; Headlinesman, Crowder; umpire, Peterson.

While they were in action, and were allowed to substitute as freely as they desired.

This is the third consecutive year that the Westerners have held a pre-season tilt with Coach McGugin's men. The practice will probably be continued in future seasons, for it greatly aids the coaches of both teams in locating the weak spots in the offense and defense, thereby giving them ample time to remedy those mistakes before the scheduled season starts.

"Burrhead" Vaughan

"Howdy, folks," says Burrhead, "you're going to be proud of us this year!"

Capt. Paul "Burrhead" Vaughan is the flashy leader of Western's football eleven. He is a native of Franklin, Kentucky. Paul not only excels on the gridiron, but he plays a neat game of basketball.

Besides his pep and energy adding strength to the team, "Burrhead" is a blocker and ground gainer of unusual ability. He has been used mostly for blocking the past two years, but in this, his senior year, Paul has been tending the riggin, and how. In the few games played this season, Paul has struck terror to the hearts of the opponents. Luck to you, "Burrhead!"

CHEER LEADERS ARE CHOSEN FOR CHAPEL PROGRAM

Reed, Young, Travelstead
And Fuller Are Elected

On Thursday morning, October 2, the Athletic Committee took charge of the chapel exercises and the entire program was devoted to the election of cheer leaders. Mr. L. T. Smith, chairman of the committee, was in charge of the proceedings. All candidates were called to the stage and asked to direct the student body in two ways. Four boys and four girls responded to the call. Although the number was unusually small, a livelier and more efficient group of yell leaders would certainly be hard to find.

Each candidate clearly demonstrated that he or she was capable of directing the yells of the student body. As entered into the trials with so much enthusiasm that it seemed as if he or she were on the football field pleading for a touchdown instead of being on the chapel stage battling for cheer leading positions. However, the eight of them could not be elected and when the votes of the students present had been counted it was found that the following students had been chosen cheer leaders for this year:

Miss Lois Reed of Leitchfield, Kentucky; Clair Young, who hails from the smoky city of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; Chester Travelstead, a Bowling Green boy, and Ernest Fuller, a product of Me-Henry, Kentucky.

The quartet possesses a boundless amount of energy and pep, but as to whether full support is given to the athletic teams depends upon the cooperation and loyalty of the student body. Attention, students! Fall right in!

CENTRE UPSETS WESTERN 31-0 IN FIRST GAME

Hilltoppers Inexperienced In New System Of Play

The Hilltoppers of Western rather disastrously opened the 1930 gridiron season by bowing to a powerful Centre College on the latter's field, 31 to 0. Coach Elam's cohorts has far from mastered the new system of plays introduced by the new coach and the result was that the Hilltoppers never seriously threatened. Coach Kuback sent the smartest playing Centre team on to the field that has represented the institution for several years. The Colonels, displaying the same fighting spirit that made the Centre eleven famous when Bo McMillan and Red Roberts were in their prime, played heady football throughout the game, using their screen passes, off tackle and line bucks very effectively.

Centre began her scoring in the middle of the first quarter when Tenack intercepted Johnson's pass and went 42 yards down the side lines for a touchdown. A series of line bucks and a pass accounted for the second touchdown late in the second quarter. Shearer, Colonel quarterback, almost single handedly gained Centre's third marker by making two 26-yard runs and then a gallop around end for the touchdown. The Colonels added two more markers this quarter.

Late in the second quarter Johnson, Western quarterback, passed to Millard for 26 yards, but the Hilltoppers had apparently become discouraged and lacked the punch to advance the ball.

Hilltoppers Trounce Bethel 32-0 In First Tilt Here This Year

Local Team Demonstrates Skill In the Art of Ground-Gaining Via The Aerial Route

Playing fast and clever football throughout the Western Hilltoppers clearly demonstrated their superiority over Bethel College in the "Toppers' first home engagement by plastering a 32-0 defeat on the Bethel Warriors. Led by the inspired playing of Captain Paul Vaughan, the Teachers started off a powerful offensive late in the first half that was halted only by the final gun.

The teams played on even terms in the first quarter and in nearly all of the second, but a series of passes from Johnson to Holman and from T. Elrod to Holman put the ball on the 3-yard line. Leroy Elrod pierced the line for a touchdown. L. Elrod's place kick went wild, and the score stood 6-0 in Western's favor as the half ended.

In the second half Vaughan scored two touchdowns in quick succession, and Cohen again shined in some substitutes. Vaughan, who has been used mostly for blocking the past 199 years, clearly demonstrated that he is among the best ground gainers on the Western eleven.

The Elrod brothers also performed nobly in the backfield. Turner Elrod reeled off several nice runs and shot bullet-like passes. Leroy Elrod did all of Western's punting. Carol Broderrick played a great game as back. Time after time this boy plunged through the line or skirted the ends for long gains. In the second half, after Vaughan's removal Broderrick, Chapman, T. Elrod and Moore took turns in carrying the ball down the field until the 5-yard line was reached. Chapman went over on a line buck; Johnson kicked a goal to bring the score to 26-0.

The final touchdown came in short order after the kick off. Johnson intercepted a Bethel pass on the second play and ran it to Bethel's 19-yard line. Moore reeled off 18 yards off tackle but Western got a 3-yard penalty for offense. Moore skirted left end for the remaining 6 yards and a touchdown. Johnson missed the try for the extra point, and a few minutes later the game ended with the score being 32-0.

In the Teacher line Baker, Cummins, Martin and Stevens were the big guns. Holman also played a nice game, snaggling several long passes out of the air for 50 yards gains. However, the entire Western line deserved honorable mention because it charged fast and tackled viciously and Bethel was able to make little impression on it.

The teams were about on a par in weight, but the terrific charging of the Hilltoppers caused the Bethel line to wilt at the beginning of the last half. Only the kicks of Weaver stood out for the

DEATH CLAIMS MISS STALLARD EX-REGISTRAR

Had Been Connected With Western Eighteen Years

It was with no little sorrow and sadness that the report of the death of Miss Mary Stallard, former registrar and familiar figure on the campus, was received on the Hill on Monday afternoon, October 13. Miss Stallard had been in ill health since the beginning of her vacation in October, 1929, and had spent considerable time in a hospital. However, her sudden death from heart failure on October 13, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Flora Stallard Thomas, at Cox's Creek, came rather as a shock to her own family.

Miss Stallard had been connected with the Normal School and Teachers College here in the offices of the dean and registrar continuously for eighteen years. She was registrar of the college for some time until the growth of the institution necessitated other assistance in handling this work. Her years of faithful service on the Hill indicate her unlimited limits of industry and patience. She was a lovable character and her sweet disposition gained for her a host of friends out in town as well as in the college.

Floral offerings were sent by the registrar's office and by the president and faculty. Miss Florence Schneider, Mr. Ernest H. Canon, Miss Mattie McLean, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. George Page attended the funeral October 14, as official representatives of the school.

Western Students Hear From Susie

Oct. 18, 1930.
Dear Western Students and others:

I am writing to tell you how much I miss Western. Last year when I was with you I used to write to Ma; this year while I am with Ma it's only fair that I turn tables and write to you. Especially I want you to know how much you should appreciate being at Western; so, for fear you won't all be at Chapel when it is told there, I'm writing you this letter.

I'm back in Pastorsville with Ma and the folks and I've joined that great group of combination people called school teachers. By combination people I mean that a school teacher has to be a combination of everything else—a sort of teacher, preacher, nurse, information bureau, psychologist, spiritualist, acrobat, orator, social settlement worker, judge and lost and found department—combined with an eternal smile. Since teaching school for seven weeks I have almost decided to get me a nice quiet job digging ditches or doing something easy like that.

However, after spending my first month's salary for spinal adjustments, nerve tonics, aspirin, nerve restorers and various soothing lotion, I feel a little better. And speaking of my salary—it isn't much to speak of. With my first check I did not receive the accompanying thrill that I used to read and hear about. I just kept pitying myself and thinking about how underpaid I was. Why when I try to sleep at night thirty-one wriggling figures pop up before me and thirty-one voices shout at me until I fairly teach school all night. So here I am teaching school both day and night and receiving no extra compensation whatsoever.

And there is always the question of grades. I worked for hours and hours getting out the first month report cards. They were taken home with weeping and wailing and gnashing of the first set of teeth. The following day the children almost worried me to death with telling me how good they were going to be now. But after about a half an hour I sent one down to the principal, seated one outside on the steps, one in the cloak-room, one in the closet, three in opposite corners of the room, and one under my desk and put the customary long "stay-in" list on the board and we settled down to our everyday routine.

I have a very interesting book that I want you to see some time. It is a scrap book containing the "dere teacher" notes that I have received. Yes, they are all genuine articles—no fakes. Some of them are screams, and talk about modernistic spelling—I feel as if I were taking a post-graduate course in it.

I receive all sorts of peace offerings—apples, candy, nuts—both ripe and otherwise—paper dolls, marbles, flowers (both fresh and wilted vines), berries, paper guns, string, pictures, acorns, cards, book straps, ribbon, cakes and once a lovely sack of rocks from my most ardent (?) juvenile admirer. With all of these offerings I could start a curiosity shop.

"ON THE SQUARE"

Bowling Green and Perryville, Kentucky, up the Shenandoah Valley on to the Potomac river, then down to the ocean.

General Johnston, Commander of the Confederate Army of the West, was stationed on Baker's Hill just across the bridge on the Louisville Road, fired on the fort, not knowing it had been evacuated. He took possession and the fort remained in the hands of the Federal Army during the remainder of the Civil War.

The tablet is not erected on a part of the original fort, but on a part built after the other had been torn down in order to build the library. However, the part in the rear of the Administration Building is the original wall built by General Johnston.

The following inscription has been placed on the tablet.
FORT ALBERT SIDNEY JOHNSTON
General Simon Bolivar Buckner, occupied Bowling Green September 18, 1861.
General Albert Sidney Johnston, Commander, Confederate Army of the West, moved headquarters to Bowling Green, October 28, 1861. He began the erection of this fort. General Johnston evacuated Bowling Green February 14, 1862, and started for Nashville. This ended Confederate control here.
General Ormsby M. Mitchell of the Union Army occupied Bowling Green, February 14, 1862.
Colonel Benjamin Harrison, Inter-president, was one among the Union officers in command here. Union forces held the fort to the end of the war.
